[Copyrights d by the United Press, 1881.] LONDON, June 13 .- In surveying the field of Furopean politics the other day Lord Salisbury derived encouragement from the tremendous risk involved in modern war, but at the same time he pointed to the Mahometan States still existing in Europe and within the European system as one great source of danger. The reason is that they threaten to disappear and that there will be a race for their heritage, not between Governments merely, but between people. The British Premier spoke with more seriousness regarding the tuture fate of Morocco, and judging from the news received this evening of the serious illness of the Sultan of Morocco his forecast is strictly

Mr. Gladstone's recent letter in reference the Jews in Russia has directed renewed attention to the efforts to promote the syste-matic colonization of Palestine. The Choveveit Zion Society has adopted a petition asking Lord Rothschild to beseech Lord Salisasking Lord Rothschild to beseech Lord Salisbury's intercession, and acting upon this levitation of the society Lord Rothschild has approached Lord Salisbury with a request that he will use his good offices with the Powers with a view, if possible, to giving some formal international recognition to the attempt to direct the tide of Jewish immigration towards Palestine. Lord Rothschild's acquescence was assured from the first, for the petition may be said to have embodied the result of a consultation between his Lordship and Mr. Montague, M. P. THE TORPEDO OPERATIONS.

The British admiralty have decided that the torpedo operations which are to be carried out in the Irish channel this summer shall be of a much more important and extensive character than was originally anticipated. A plan of op-erations has been submitted to the admiralty, which, it is expected, will enable the torpedo staff to conduct a series of evolutions which will illustrate in an eminent degree the imporance of a torpedo fleet.

At this moment preliminary experiments on an extensive scale are being conducted on the torpedo schoolship at Portsmouth.

TRIAL OF CHABLES ALAN FYFTE,

The editor of the Daily News. Mr. J. R. Robinson, has appeared as a witness in his behalf, and will probably appear against him, but the fact remains that Mr. Fyffe himself has not yet denied the charge, which it is alleged he attempted to commit. If he is guilty there appears to be some ground for the charitable belief that he is subject to hallucinations, and that he was really not aware of his folly at the time. The case is commented upon at the time. The case is commented upon by many as indicating the tendency in Eng-lish upper life to forms of depravity that marked the decline of Rome.

Tuesday night Bob Clark, a colored boy, twenty years old, was arrested on suspicion, Yesterday and to-day his trial came off before Mayor Rader, of Bristol, Va. The evidence was very damaging. He was bound over to court this morning, and was sent back to jail. The great crowd that attended the trial had no idea of dispersing, and soon the news spread all over the city that Clark would be lynched before noon. In an hour hundreds of people, all colors are sent and had of people, all colors, ages and races, had gathered round the jail. Prominent men of the city made speeches loud and long, begging the excited and outraged people to disperse and let the law take its course, but they were hissed down as soon as they appeared.

At last one man obtained an axe and told them to follow on. The door was caved in and a stream of angry men filled the jail. The and a stream or angry men filed the lail. The negro was brought out amid shouts and cheers. By this time over three thousand men had assembled, and as soon as the leader started to the woods it seemed as if the whole population of Bristol was in pursuit.

The excited crowd carried him to Lindsey's

Grove, a mile from town, and swung him to a limb on the nearest tree. His body fell a time or two but was finally secured. It hung in mid-air for hours, when it was cut down by the coroner's jury. While the lynching was going on one negro said if their color had stuck together the man would not have died. Immediately after these words were spoken three or four pistols were thrown in his face and it was with difficulty that the hadron were accounted from which culty that the few were prevented from lynch-

In this game the 'Varsities started off in their old manner and soon convinced Middleton that he could pitch a little bit, so after a few innings he retired in favor of Dashiell, although he fared but little better.

Both teams played a very loose game in the field, errors being quite numerous, the visitors excelling in this respect. The home team did some heavy batting, especially Benner, who got in a three-bagger and a two-bagger; A. Greenway, with his usual homerun hit over the fence and a single, Thurman with a two-bagger and three singles.

In the field Benner, Thurman and the two Greenways carried off the honors. Following is the score.

SOCIETY IS DULL.

There Was Very Little of Interest in Richmond Last Week.

Not a single social event occurred last week

Not a single social event occurred last week that could put on the garb of greatness and figure in a society column as an item of news. Plenty small events took place, such as a 'tea to a few friends," or an impromptu card party, but not one of these lesser affairs had written invitations as accompaniments.

Society in Richmond is dull. It is resting on its laurels culled plentifully during winter's gay season, and it is nerving itself for the wear and tear incident to the summer triumphs. This week the exodus will begin. Many have already made up their minds as to where they will solourn, and as the sun's rays shine with increased vigor others follow their example.

shine with increased vigor others follow their example.

Soon the baggage-wagon will come down Franklin street looking like a moving advertisement for a trunk factory; and soon the railroad coach will look like a Tuesday german with the decollete gowns omitted.

Soon the watering-places will resound with the laughter and gaieties of the Richmond beauty and soon the men will be making love in the afternoon, sipping juleps in the evening and sleeping in the morning.

Soon the Northern girl will come to Old Point and give an exhibition of her diving powers from the Old Dominion's pier, and soon the Southern girl will visit the White for the first time and make horrible grimaces over the sulphur water.

Soon the rash and impetuous Richmond girl will venture to some Northern seaside resort, and later she will come back sadder and Stein and wiser, for sooner or later she will discover that mammon and introductions count in that country, and devastations of war has not left her papa that plentifulness of wealth so needful in the land of the "Yanks."

Soon the girl at Old Point will go out for a sail, get proposed to, become agitated and turn the boat over, and then the young man will become rash and propose to some one else, and soon the girl will be debating the subject as to whether it is better to accept Jack now and go without attentions from other men for three months, or jilt him and find him engaged to another when autumn comes.

Soon the girl at the springs will be figuring in the same old scandal that comes from there very year, and sooner or later the enterprising clubman will find out that there's nothing in it.

ing in it. Soon the papers will be full of the accounts Soon the papers will be full of the accounts of germans, receptions, teas and other functions; and soon the society correspondent at the resorts will be as important a personage as the clerk with the diamond pin and the pompadour hair.

A good story comes from Paris: A certain Parisian came over to this country, spent con-siderable time here, went back excoriating the cooking, and was met shortly after by a Virginian.

"How did you like Virginia?" asked our rep. "Splendidly, except ze peepul are much like ze Anglaise." said the Frenchman.
"Did you go to the White Sulphur Springs?" asked the Virginian.
Oh, yees. I went dare in ze boat and ze scenery along ze roote was grand, magni-The Virginian ended the interview.
